

PRINCIPAL'S NEWS

It has been another wonderful fortnight of learning and celebration at Cranbourne Primary School.

A sincere thank you to all of our teachers and families who participated in last week's Parent Teacher Interviews. These conversations are such an important part of supporting every child's learning journey. We value the opportunity to celebrate students' successes, discuss their progress and work together to ensure each child continues to thrive. Strong partnerships between home and school make a genuine difference, and we appreciate the time families took to meet with their child's teacher.

Last Friday was undoubtedly one of the highlights of the term as our Foundation students celebrated their first 100 days of school! It is incredible to think how much our youngest learners have grown since they first walked through our gates earlier this year. The confidence, independence and resilience they now demonstrate is something to be incredibly proud of. I must admit, seeing our Foundation students arrive dressed as the cutest little 100-year-olds imaginable certainly brought plenty of smiles to staff, students and families alike! Congratulations to our Foundation team for creating such a memorable celebration.

As we move through the term, there are many exciting learning opportunities still to come, including the Australian Maths Competition, Book Week and our annual Scholastic Book Fair. These experiences enrich our curriculum and provide students with opportunities to discover new interests, challenge themselves and celebrate learning in different ways.

I would also like to provide families with an early heads-up that further industrial action across Victorian government schools is currently proposed for Wednesday 19 August. At the time of writing, this action has not been confirmed. Should it proceed, Cranbourne Primary School is likely to operate on a skeleton staff, similar to our previous arrangements. We will communicate with families as soon as further information becomes available so that everyone has as much notice as possible to make any necessary arrangements.

As always, thank you for your ongoing support of our school. Whether it's attending interviews, encouraging reading at home, volunteering at events or simply having conversations about your child's learning, every partnership helps us continue to build a community where students are encouraged to work hard, be kind and feel proud.

Warm regards,

Krysten Andrews

Acting Principal

Daily school attendance is crucial for academic success, social development, and building healthy habits for the future. Missing school, even just one day a fortnight, adds up to four weeks a year, putting students behind and impacting their long-term employment, income, and overall well-being.
